

Cancer 101 Train-the-Trainer

Hosted by Coeur d'Alene Tribe

May 23 & 24, 2006

Coeur d'Alene
Tribal Wellness Center
1100 A Street
Plummer, ID 83815

National Cancer Institute's
CANCER INFORMATION SERVICE

*Brought to you by:
Northwest Tribal Cancer
Control Project-Northwest
Portland Area Indian Health
Board, Spirit of EAGLES
Community Network
Program, and National
Cancer Institute's Cancer
Information Service (CIS).*

Community members, staff of Indian health programs, and Community Health Representatives are invited to join us for a Cancer 101 Train-the-Trainer session.

This session is designed to help you learn about cancer using "Cancer 101—A Cancer Education & Training Program for American Indians and Alaska Natives". You will also learn how to develop a Tribal Action Plan to implement a cancer education event in your community.

By participating in this Train-the-Trainer session, you will also be offered the opportunity to take part in a research study that is trying to evaluate the impact of "Cancer 101" among Northwest urban and rural tribal community members.

Seating is limited, so register by
May 17, 2006!

Registration is free and scholarships for hotel accommodations and travel costs are available.

For more information, please contact Jennifer Tudor (CIS) at 206-667-4675.